The Magazine for Web Hosting Executives

THE MAN OF ACTION AWARD

27 Haralds Jass, Haralds Jass. Who is this guy, anyway? And how come WH Mag keeps writing about him? Didn't he win an award already last year? He isn't represented by any PR agency, but despite the arm-and-a-leg retainer fee you've been paying for yours, he's the one getting all the attention. What gives?

He credits the hard work and talent of Team Superb — led by VP of Technology Lu Vo, VP of Marketing Curtis Curtis, and Director of Dedicated Services Ken Nunes — for his ability to execute. For the second year in a row, our thanks go to this man of action for being a part of the web hosting world.

The truth is, Jass isn't related to anyone at WH Mag. But over the years, he's impressed us as web hosting's top go-getter. Countless industry experts have offered to serve as our editorial advisers, but few other than Jass come through with near-instantaneous and well-informed opinions and analyses on demand. Dozens of companies have responded with interest to ValueWeb Communications Director Steve Berman's call to form a web hosting industry association, but Jass alone took the initiative to set up a discussion forum on Superb Internet's network.
